E8: OPPOSITE OF YOUR EMOTIONAL URGES

1. Situation:	Given the same situation at work, when something I'm doing breaks, or I broke it, I get defensive.
2. Emotion and effectiveness of emotional urge:	It's not really effective. I want to hide away and that is counterproductive to getting work done.
3. Acting the opposite way:	I have learned to notice the feeling , and tell someone thank you. Then I go off and sincerely evaulate any suggestions.
4. Repeating:	I practice this often. I would rather re-evalute something I am doing and find out that there is a better way than to keep doing it wrong. I did this at the gym where I was doing something in an ineffective way and didn't realize it. I took the advise, and went back to check better methods.